

---

READ THIS BEFORE POSTING

Posted by administrator - 2008/03/26 18:07

---

Welcome to the Jobs Available board. This is an area where you can freely post information about positions available in your organisation.

When making a posting, please use as descriptive a title as you can to describe the job on offer, and then include as much information in the posting as you can. Include information about the type of person you are looking for, the qualifications/experience required, information about the role, whether it is part-time, full-time, permanent or contract, and full contact information, etc.

By providing as much information as possible, you will get a better match in your candidates.

If you are looking for a position, search this board, and if you cannot find anything suitable, post on the Jobs Required board.

=====