
Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by jessicaudoh - 2008/08/20 18:42

HI

I am looking for an experienced pattern cutter and machinist to work on a collection with me.

Offering competitive pay, must be able to work from home or own premises.

Look forward to hearing from all interested parties.

JessicaUdoh

=====

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by 1990todate - 2008/08/21 04:50

SIZING AND FIT - PATTERN CUTTING - GRADING AND SAMPLING - QUALITY ASSURANCE

Following your advert on the fashion capital web site I run my own of my freelance services, which I trust could be of interest to you.

I have gained a wealth of experience and knowledge in garment development. From developing initial patterns, through quality control and production to the delivery of the product. I have worked with a variety of companies, both within the U.K. and across the globe to source and assess factories, set up quality systems, manage AQL checks and improve and establish correct fit/size across all products. Although my strengths are tailoring based, I have experience in products from t-shirts through to jackets and coats. I have worked for a wide range of companies who have used my services and look forward to discussing possible involvement in your business in the near future.

Also more recently I have created a quick response pattern/sample service. This is aimed at both retailers and manufactureres to assist them in reducing the time of fit/size approval. Included in this service is a sample / pattern pack for the factory to follow.

Please feel free to contact me, if you require any further information.

Yours Sincerely

Jon Gordon

J.G Consultants
3 Croft Gdns
Ruislip
Middx HA4 8EY
UK
TEL/FAX +44(0)1895 633574
MOB +44(0)7973666905

=====

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by saji - 2008/08/21 18:17

Hi leigh

I belive I have the relevent skills to do this job. I have graduated in womenswear at the london college of fashion, Fashion production in pattern and garment technology. I have done dress making in my own time for clients or friends with occasions, this consist of pattern making/cutting, garment construction, fittings and alterations. I have done a lot of work with calico so I would be comfortable with making up a garment. I have my own equipment, sewing machine, overlocker etc. so this would not be a problem for me.

If you have any question please dont hesitate to email me or you can call me on 07780528512.

thank you.

Sajida Burnett

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by saji - 2008/08/21 18:31

Sorry not leigh i meant alison

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by saji - 2008/08/21 18:31

Sorry not leigh i meant alison

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by catharinaeden - 2008/08/22 07:20

Hello,

Just in case you are still looking, I am a designer with my own pattern making and sampling service for other designers as well.

We are currently making the patterns and toiles for an entire collection of an LFW brand. I only take on a few designers on board at a time though, since we are a small but effective unit. But will gladly see if timing and requirements fit both ways.

We are based in South Wimbledon.

Please do not hesitate to get in contact on my mobile 07766963780 or via email: info@catharina.co.uk

Very best,

Catharina Eden
www.catharina.co.uk
we are also listed on the Manufacturers Online Showroom

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by Maxine - 2008/08/28 11:03

Dear Jessica.

I am really interested in learning more about the position you are offering. I have recently graduated with a degree in BA(Hons) Contour and Fashion Design which has enabled me to achieve sewing and pattern cutting skills to make a wide variety of garments. Previous collections have included Lingerie, sportswear, swimwear and all forms of outerwear. The use of a wide range of fabrics, components and styles has given me confidence to turn any design into reality.

If you would like to contact me then please do, I would love to hear from you.

Kind Regards,

Maxine Wells.
maxine.wells23@googlemail.com

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by william - 2008/09/02 09:34

Hi,

well, just to add my name to your list : I have over thirty years experience as a Pattern cutter and Sample machinist.. I am very experienced in both Mens and Ladies wear having worked for many top companies and designers. I have extensive knowledge of tailoring,dresses,separates, casual wear,etc. And I can grade, cost, cut etc. If you would like to speak to me feel free to call me on 07905-965305. Thanks-WILLIAM.

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by suetye - 2008/09/04 15:42

Hi Jessica

If you have not currently filled this vacancy, perhaps I may be able to help. Please visit my website at www.dressed-to-impress.co.uk and contact me if you require any further information. Many thanks Sue Tye

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by Glen - 2008/09/05 23:12

Are you looking for a pattern cutter? Look no further, contact Robins & Wright, specialising in pattern cutting requirements for the garment Industry, Robins & Wright are _base_d in London. Send us your sketch, photo or sample

Save time, money and energy by ordering your patterns online

Price includes one amendment.

Patterns are cut on card or spot & cross

We also provide high quality calico toiles. These can also be made from your sketch and sent to you to be fitted you return the toiles with any amendments and the pattern is made for you,

If this is a service that you might be interested in then please phone us or email your specifications. 07824 336 285 email us. info@robinsandwright.com. Visit our website www.robinsandwright.com

Re:Pattern cutter and machinist required

Posted by hyacinth - 2008/09/08 10:26

Hi

I am a freelance pattern cutter with eighteen years experience and my own studio. If you still need someone you may contact Sharon on 07958 687702. sr.pattern@virgin.net
